

POWERING PERSONALIZED LEARNING

Cortex

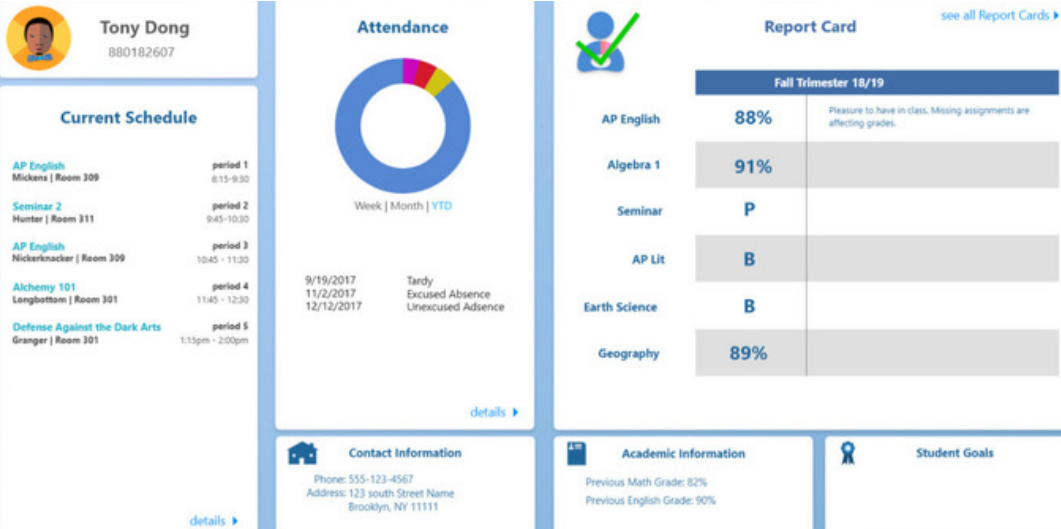

Cortex is a next-generation integrated student information and learning management system. Cortex's personalized learning progressions allow students to own their data and drive their learning experience. With a focus on mastery of skills, Cortex allows teachers to track mastery against the Common Core and other learning standards as well as populate their playlists with content from other schools and recognized ed tech vendors like Khan Academy and Open Ed. Cortex powers teaching and learning by putting data in the hands of teachers and administrators to heighten personalized learning models.
